

As a consumer of satellite radio products since 2001, I support the merger of SIRIUS and XM. Both satellite companies are in competition with MP3 players, radio, and HD. Allow these companies to merge so that the consumer receives better programming as a result of a single company being able to better compete.